The Bay St. Louis Police Department on Tuesday assisted the U.S. Marshals Gulf Coast Regional Fugitive Task Force in finding a missing toddler and arresting the child's parents, who are accused of kidnapping their son while he was in a hospital being treated for a cocaine overdose.

"This was a great law enforcement joint effort by U.S. Marshals, the St. Bernard Parish Sheriff's Office, the Bay St. Louis Police Department, and the Louisiana Department of Children and Family Services," Senior Inspector Jeremy Stilwell with the Gulf Coast Regional Fugitive Task Force said in a press release. "There was an extensive search for this couple and missing child by everyone involved, and it really shows what law enforcement is able to accomplish when multiple agencies put their resources together."

Police offer teachers ‘Active Shooter’ response training

Waveland Police Department’s Josh Stockstill and Bay St. Louis Police Department’s Investigator Sean Olsen last week taught a Civilian’s Response To Active Shooter Events at the Waveland Elementary School to their teachers and staff. The Civilian Response to Active Shooter Events (CRASE) course, designed and built on the Avoid, Deny Defend (ADD) strategy developed by ALERRT in 2004, provides strategies, guidance and a proven plan for surviving an active shooter event. Topics include the history and prevalence of active shooter events, civilian response options, medical issues, and considerations for conducting drills. The Waveland Police Department thanked Bay St. Louis Police Department’s Chief Toby Schwartz and the Bay-Waveland School District for his assistance and their staff for allowing this training to take place.

At its meeting on March 20, 2023, the P.E.O. Chapter U of Diamondhead installed its executive board for 2023-2024 and presented three new sisters with gold star pins.

The 2023-2024 executive board members are Kelly Kennedy, president; Marilyn Lott, vice president; Eileen O’Brien, corresponding secretary; Cheryl Doyle, recording secretary; Judy Davis, treasurer; and Diana Manocchio, guard.

President Kelly Kennedy presented gold star pins to Chapter U’s newest members, Sarah Parrington, Theresa Manning, and Kathy Cobb. New members are given the star pin to serve as a visual reminder of the ideals of P.E.O. The pin’s design was created in 1869 by the organization’s seven founding women, and the design has changed only a few times – mostly in size -- since then. The pin denotes a oneness with all P.E.O. sisters, who share similar ideas, ideals, achievements, and aspirations. Members of the sisterhood recognize that the pin should be worn with love and dignity and modesty and with a deep sense of responsibility, reflecting the character of P.E.O.

The P.E.O. Sisterhood is a U.S.-based international women’s organization of about 230,000 members, with a primary focus on providing educational opportunities for female students worldwide. The Sisterhood is headquartered in Des Moines, Iowa, with chapters throughout the United States and Canada.

Flag Retirement Program

Edmond Fahey Funeral Home works with local residents and the veterans services organizations to properly retire any U.S. flag that has reached the end of its service. Our program is designed to honor our national heroes, our military veterans, and to give dignity to our American Flag when it is no longer worthy of display. We strive to see that each veteran being cremated has a flag. There is no charge for this service to our veterans.

According to the United States code, Title 4, Chapter 1, Subsection 8: "The flag, when it is in such condition that it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, should be destroyed in a dignified way, preferably by burning."

If you would like to honor a deceased veteran by donating an aged or worn flag to be properly disposed of, you may do so by delivering the flags to our funeral home located on the corner of Necaise Avenue and Main Street.

"We pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

A Rabbit Hole Hancock History: Necaise Crossing

Last weekend I fell down the rabbit hole that is ABC’s show 20/20.

I stream it on the service Hulu and they have a ton of episodes.

One of my main gripes with the show is that it is so repetitive. Every time they come back from ad breaks, they rehash a ton of different things that were just presented before the ad.

And maybe some people like that format, as it might help them keep up with the facts of the story.

I would say the majority of the stories are about murders and the ensuing trials.

One in particular made me quite angry. It was called “Running out of Time,” about the murder of University of Utah student Lauren McCluskey.

Despite making NUMEROUS calls and visits to the campus police, not to mention the city police, she was murdered on CAMPUS by the same man who she pleaded with the police to investigate.

Had they looked into the man, they would have found a rap sheet detailing an extensive history of criminal activity, which included sexual crimes. He had also been paroled twice and had a parole officer who also wasn’t contacted — which also shame on the parole board — because this man was one of the ones that clearly could not be rehabilitated.

There was even a ton of security footage that showed this non-student just walking around on campus stalking this young woman.

She was abducted while on the phone with her parents, which is awful, and then shot, killed, and put in a car in the campus parking lot.

Sure, there was a swarm of activity when she went missing, but it was too little, too late.

Lauren did everything she was supposed to do. She reported it to numerous people in charge at the university as well as law enforcement. And what was the point? No one took an interest in this girl’s plight and she died.

Sadly, her story wasn’t unfamiliar to me. I’ve watched many true crime stories about stalking and domestic violence victims and how their stories are never taken seriously. And of course, there may need to be more laws on the book, which could give the system more teeth when it comes to these types of crimes.

I can only hope that the university and the law enforcement involved can learn from this tragedy and do better.

One of the oldest families in Hancock County is the Necaise Family. Present-day members of this large clan, like current resident Bruce Necaise, the great-great grandson of Alsay (pronounced “Allcee”) and Mary Necaise, can trace their ancestry back to Cat Island. The Necaise family were Catholic settlers originally emigrating from France by way of Mobile, Alabama, to the Gulf Coast in the 18th century. Recording the stories about the lives of any family presents a rich history of its members, its cultural heritage, and its unique individuals. Such is the case of the Necaise family.

One of the first settlers in Necaise Crossing was Alsay Necaise (1846-1934), who owned about two hundred acres of farmland at the crossing of the Necaise-Caesar Road (MS Hwy #53) and the Old Poplarville Road (MS Hwy 603). This spot acquired the name “Necaise Crossing” in 1921 because the Mississippi Southern Railroad crossed next to the junction of the two aforementioned byways. This railroad built by the Hines Lumber Company that connected the Kiln to Lumberton crossed from the west side of the Old Poplarville Road to the east side in its course from south to north right in the neighborhood called Necaise Crossing. Necaise Crossing was not a camp or a water stop for the Edward Hines Lumber Company, but a crossing just as the name suggests. That said, a double track and a switch station were located there to allow trains to pass each other.

Alsay Necaise married the daughter of his neighbor, Hebrew Ladner, Marie “Mary” Virginia Ladner (1853-1923). Their first child was a daughter named Alfocene (1886-1889), who often played on a nearby hilltop field. Sadly, Alfocene died at the age of three from yellow fever and was buried on that same small hilltop. Her grandfather, Hebrew Ladner, owned that land and donated it to the county to become a cemetery

So, let’s talk about public education in Mississippi. Really, let’s start a dialogue. Let’s hear from folks in the Delta trying to educate on a shoestring. Let’s all talk about what we want our Mississippi kids to have in their education bag of tricks when they head out for a job or college.

I have taught in Maryland, Maine, Department of Defense Schools in Germany and Mississippi. The teachers with whom I worked in Mississippi were shoulder to shoulder as dedicated and skilled as any teacher I knew in any other school system. The quality of teaching in this state is NOT the problem. So, what is the difference? Why do the students in Mississippi continue to score at or near the bottom, nationally?

1.Because we pay so much less in Mississippi, young talented teachers may begin their careers here, then leave. Our veteran, excellent teachers mentor them, they stay a few years but competitive salaries elsewhere pull them away and our students get another crop of beginning teachers the next year. Unfortunately, that cycle leaves us shorthanded every year. Action: You can write Nancy Looome of MS Parents Campaign at nloome@msparents-campaign.com to find out how to help get teachers’ pay raised. She has been a warrior for public schools in Mississippi for years and follows all things related to giving our kids their best possible education.

Because the MS legislature has refused to fully fund schools year after year (the funds are available in the state treasury), schools and teachers do not get the supplies and equipment needed to help students reach their highest possible potential. New teachers are especially hindered because they often begin with an empty classroom. There are many school systems in Mississippi that fully equip teachers and classrooms but we must work for the educational success of ALL Mississippi children. Action: Write or call your legislative representative and senator to support fully funded public schools in ALL Mississippi school systems. Thank them if they were one of the legislators who voted for the legislation that did make it through but ask them to support full funding next year.

2.Students often sit in overcrowded classrooms since populations may have outgrown the buildings the school systems can afford or because of teacher shortages. So, students get less individual attention. Action: Call or stop in your local school and see how you can volunteer to help. You can also work with local, community service organizations to provide fund raising, classroom support, The list is long but we are mighty. Our children are worth our efforts.

3.Poverty in our state is one of our biggest challenges. The hunger and isolation that accompanies many of our children into their school buildings each day present insurmountable hurdles when students try to pay attention to instruction but all they can think about is when they get to eat. I used to keep cheese cracker nabs handy to help my 8th graders concentrate on solving equations before lunch. It took me years to figure this out but it was like a miracle to so many of them when I did! So many children stay undernourished throughout their school day! Action: Volunteer with a group of people in your community to supply teachers with healthy classroom snacks.

Let’s talk, Mississippi. Let’s talk about how we can do better for our kids, our teachers, our schools. Let’s talk to our legislators. Let’s talk to each other about what we are doing to get this done! Write to your local newspaper to share what you are doing in your community.

The Mississippi Legislature session for 2023 ended on April 2. Go to www.legislature.ms.gov to find contact information for your legislators.

Then there’s the story of people who are wrongly convicted and sentenced to prison and sometimes even death.
And if anyone thinks the justice system always gets it right, then I have some magical beans to sell you.
The thing that always gets me is the prosecutors’ and sometimes investigators inability to admit that, yes, they got it wrong, take another look at the case, and charge the right person.
If my family member were murdered, I would absolutely want a thorough investigation done and evidence that pointed to the right person, not just who happened to be an easy suspect.

There was plenty of corroborating evidence to place that man in the town, but there really was no investigation once the focus zeroed in on the mother.
Sells admitted to the murder while on death row for, wait for it, killing other children, some after the killing of Rea’s son.
So, maybe if there had been more of an investigation into this man, he might not have killed more children and an innocent woman would not have gone to prison.
The prosecutor in that case refuses to see that they got it wrong. They are human. The juries are made of humans. Humans err and it’s important to admit that, especially when holding positions of immense power.
Advances in technology have exonerated so many people that it’s scary to think of how many more people have been wrongly convicted and even worse, put to death for a crime they didn’t commit because no one was willing to give up their “win” and take another look at the evidence — including new leads — to find the right person.

That’s so arrogant. And what’s more frustrating, is some people that blindly believe that the justice system just always gets it right.
It’s quite possible to still see some good in the justice system, but also question tactics used, etc, etc. Otherwise, as some like to call people these days, you are nothing more than a sheep.
Besides, like this poor mother, it can happen to anyone. It would be naive to think that it can’t.
I want the justice system to focus more on getting it right, not just what’s more convenient or will put more wins under the belt in time for an election.
It kind of took me a long time to learn that it is absolutely okay and necessary to question the judicial system. I’ve been deprogramming myself from just blindly believing that they get it right all the time.
But, it’s important to question it and fight for the innocent and the most vulnerable.
Hopefully, I can pull myself out of this 20/20 rabbit hole soon so I can begin my dive into the — new to me — Kurt Vonnegut novels.

One Sunday in 1934, Alsay could not catch his horse in order to ride to church. His wife, Mary, had passed away in 1923. Instead, Alsay decided to walk to church along the Old Poplarville Highway (Hwy 603). Because Father Denis held mass at the Infant of Prague Church once a month, it was important to Alsay for him to stay connected with his Catholic faith. Along the road, he suffered a massive stroke and died.

In our next column, the rest of this Necaise Family will be presented.

• BRIAN ERIC GORMAN
• WILLIAM “BILLY” JONES

• DONALD RAY MARROY

BRIAN ERIC GORMAN

Brian Eric Gorman passed away on Monday, April 3, 2023, at the age of fifty-four. He was born to Billy Joe and Rose Marie Gorman (Guillory) on March 11, 1969. He was a graduate of Bay Senior High School (1988) where he played football and played the trumpet in the high school band. As a proud veteran of the United States Navy, Brian served valiantly during Desert Storm and retired after 10 years of military service. During and after his military service, he was known to play “Taps,” the distinctive bugle melody, at soldiers’ funerals when the duty called.

He worked for over ten years in the restaurant industry as a line cook, sous-chef, and chef; and had recently received a degree in Culinary Arts from Del Mar College. Brian looked forward to new opportunities in the culinary field and enjoyed his new job and coworkers.

He was happiest cooking for others as this was his way of showing love. Brian enjoyed hunting, fishing, cooking, singing loudly for others to hear, and joking around; just enjoying life. He was a loyal husband, father, grandfather, brother, uncle, and good friend to many more. Always willing to help others in need, he would put others before himself; often helping strangers who then became friends. Brian will be deeply missed by all who knew and loved him.

He is preceded in death by his father, Billy Joe Gorman.

Among those left to cherish his memory are his wife of thirty years, Frances Gorman; daughters, Miranda Gorman Medrano, Breanna, Eva, and Olyvia; his mother, Rose; siblings, Felix Gorman and Nicole Gorman-Jenkins; grandchildren, Matthew Jr., Jayden, Isaiah, Israel, Angel, and Angelina; his nieces, Amanda and Madison; and his nephews, Nick, Jacob and Mason.

The memorial service will be held on Tuesday, April 18, 2023, at Turcotte-Piper Mortuary, where the family will receive condolences from 10:00 AM to 12:00 PM; with a holy rosary recited at 12:00 PM. A Rite of Committal with Military Honors will follow at 2:00 PM at Coastal Bend State Veterans Cemetery, Corpus Christi, TX.

took their two-year-old son from the hospital after he had been admitted to the pediatric intensive care unit on Jan. 30.

On Feb. 2, the Louisiana Department of Children and Family Services was granted emergency custody of the boy, and the St. Bernard Parish Sheriff’s Office issued warrants for Kritzman and Stechmann for felony obstructed justice after the toddler was listed as “missing/ended.”

The U.S. Marshals New Orleans Task Force took over the case on April 1 and began investigating whether the family had taken refuge at a Bay St. Louis motel.

While canvassing the area, officers spotted the couples truck at the motel and entered their room, arresting them and recovering the child. The toddler was returned to CFS custody and transported to the hospital for a wellness check.

Kritzman and Stechmann were booked at the Hancock County Jail, before being extradited back to Louisiana.

Wesson said Cuevas was “a great community leader.”

“In addition to his work with the newspaper and involvement with the Mississippi Press Association,” Rotary Club President Cynthia Chauvin said Thursday, “Ellis Cuevas served as a community leader through several different organizations, including the United Way of Hancock County; Goodwill Industries of South Mississippi; the Hancock County Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP); the Hancock Medical Center Foundation; Hancock Chamber of Commerce; Main Street United Methodist Church; the Emily deMontluzin Scholarship Committee; the Hancock County Historical Society; the Mississippi Marine Debris Task Force; and, of course, the Rotary Club, which was one of his great loves.

2018, said Cuevas loved his community and his fellow man, and inspired Ponder throughout their nearly 50 years of working together.

“In all that time, I never once saw him get angry or say an unkind word to someone,” Ponder said.

“This community is one of the greatest places to live in the entire country, and I believe Ellis Cuevas is one of the reasons that it is,” Geoff Belcher, the Echo’s current general manager, said. “Ellis may be gone, but his legacy lives on here in Hancock County, every day.”

Established by Chet LeBlanc, the Bay St. Louis Heritage Star is a tribute to Cuevas’ contributions to the community and to the field of journalism. It is a symbol of his impact on the city and its people, and a reminder of the values that he upheld throughout his life.

Cuevas’ star was the 8th installed and dedicated by the Hancock County Community Development Foundation.

The foundation is scheduled to unveil its next star on April 19 in honor of the late restaurateur Tony Trapani.

Easter Faith

By REV. C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN

C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN.

It is no accident that the liturgical season of Easter is observed in the Spring. I am, of course, aware of the global differences in seasons, but in the cultural reality which most of us know, the new life of Spring coincides well with the religious observance of Easter.

The biblical account which provides for this holy season declares that Jesus was crucified on Friday, and he was buried according to Jewish tradition before sundown of that day. On the morning of the third day, which was Sunday, he came forth from the tomb to a new and transformed life. Many faithful people view this account of resurrection as the lynch-pin of Christianity. It would be difficult to argue with that claim. It is feasible, however, to see the ancient story through a lens of a broad rather than narrow understanding.

The Easter story is essentially the ultimate declaration that God is with us. The poet Whittier wisely wrote:

I know not where his islands lift their fronded palms in air; I only know I cannot drift beyond his love and care.

The late pastor John Claypool put it another way. He once said that the greatest preposition in biblical literature is the word “with”. In that word the spiritual reality which we call God totally joins the human family. That is at least a part of the meaning of incarnation. God has become one with us in community. We are not on our own. There is a holy presence which is with us, and which never leaves us. The biblical account of resurrection which gives us Easter is an important reminder that we are not alone. Just as the scriptural account of the emergence of Jesus from the grave was a comforting and hopeful indication for his peers in that ancient time, so the observance of it in our own experience remains a gift for us today.

The first written accounts of resurrection came about 70-80 CE. Although Mark is the earliest gospel, its original manuscripts do not contain such a reference. Chapter 16 was added later, probably around the time that Matthew was written. This knowledge in no way detracts from the Easter story. In fact, it might be seen as enlarging it. The United Church of Canada has a unique and meaningful way of addressing this truth. It says in part:

In life, in death, in life beyond death, we are not alone for God is with us.

To be human is to recognize that we are physically finite. We have a beginning and an end. For some, that is seen as all there is. For those of us who cling to faith there is a vision of hope beyond that finite reality. For centuries the church has called that hope by several names. Some think of it in terms of eternal life. Some see it in the context of resurrection of the physical body. Others think in more esoteric terms. Whatever means of reflection is employed an essential hope remains. That hope is what Christians celebrate at Easter. It is a profound means of grace.

Cerise Charm loropetalum is an easy landscape shrub

DR. EDDIE MILES LOUIS SMITH
MSU EXTENSION SERVICE

One thing we know we can count on in the South is that it’s going to get hot. It is useful to include plants in your landscape that can handle the hot and dry conditions.

Loropetalum is a drought-tolerant plant that adds rich color and charm to your landscape. There are many selections available, ranging from large shrub/small tree sizes on down to dwarf and trailing varieties.

Loropetalums are drought-tolerant plants that add rich color to landscapes. They come in a variety of sizes and require little maintenance.

One of loropetalum’s excellent landscape qualities is its evergreen foliage. The common species has green foliage. I love the burgundy-leaf varieties that have the best color when grown in full sun. Their leaves can turn a green color when grown in shade.

One of loropetalum’s excellent landscape qualities is its evergreen foliage. The common species has green foliage. I love the burgundy-leaf varieties that have the best color when grown in full sun. Their leaves can turn a green color when grown in shade.

Loropetalums are in the witch hazel family and have flowers that look like fringe and resemble winter-blooming witch-hazel flowers. Loropetalum usually begins blooming in early spring and then blooms sporadically through the rest of the summer.

The green-leaved varieties typically have white flowers, while the dark-burgundy-leaved selections have pink to red flowers.

I have several favorite varieties of loropetalum, and Cerise Charm loropetalum is at the top of my list.

Cerise Charm is a compact dwarf selection that boasts intense burgundy-purple foliage year-round. Even in the unforgiving heat of the Southeast, it keeps its color all summer. Hot-pink fringe flowers in the spring are a stunning contrast to the foliage. After flowering, bright reddish-maroon new leaves emerge, and these deepen in color to a dark plum as they mature.

This loropetalum forms a dense mound 2 to 3 feet high and wide. Little pruning is needed other than to maintain size and shape.

This drought-tolerant and low-maintenance shrub is sure to provide rich color and beauty in the sunny or partly shady landscape. It generally produces the best flowers and leaf colors in sunny locations.

Cerise Charm is hardy in U.S. Department of Agriculture zones 7b to 11 and makes a fine landscape plant throughout Mississippi.

It tolerates many soil conditions, especially with some extra attention at planting. Amend native soil with good organic matter when filling in the hole to give the roots a good base to grow into. A common mistake gardeners make with loropetalum is planting the root ball too deep. Never plant deeper than the top of the soil line in the container, and dig the hole at least twice as wide as the container.

For those who have problems with deer eating your plants, Cerise charm is known for being deer resistant.

This shrub has many versatile uses and looks great in containers as well as the landscape. If you are looking for a shrub to provide color all year, Cerise Charm loropetalum is a great choice.

ranged a free fishing trip and sunset cruise for the family.

“This is great,” Khai, an eight-year-old Waveland Elementary student, said Monday evening while captains Clark Breland and Teddy Mumme showed him how to operate the boat.

Khai suffers from Spinal Muscular Atrophy (SMA), a degenerative disease which leads to loss of motor neurons in the spinal cord and causes weakness and wasting of the skeletal muscles.

“I really appreciate everything that people have done for my son,” Khai’s dad Randy said. “It made me feel good to see that big smile on his face, and he’s really enjoying everything.”

Randy said the past couple of years have “been kind of rough,” but the fishing trip and the pending Make-a-Wish visit to Disney World have kept Khai smiling.

Monday’s trip was “nothing shy of perfect!” Khai’s mom Carissa Coffey said.

In a Facebook post, she thanked Make-a-Wish and Cindy Kenny for “fulfilling my boy’s wish.”

“Ms. Cindy has worked with us so much to make this possible, and (she) will forever hold a special place in our hearts,” she said.

Breland and Mumme seemed to enjoy Monday’s outing as much as Khai’s family did, showing the kids how the boat’s controls and electronics, and explaining how everything works.

“Any chance we get to do something like this, it’s the best,” Breland said.

MDOT projects move forward in southeast MS

SEA COAST ECHO

Commissioner Tom King, Southern Transportation District, has announced updates to several Mississippi Department of Transportation (MDOT) projects in south Mississippi.

“A large amount of infrastructure improvement projects are currently underway in Southeast Mississippi with even more on the horizon,” said King. “This work is great news for Mississippians as it will ultimately improve safety of the traveling public and increase efficiency for commercial traffic. More projects also mean more work zones, so please slow down and watch out for workers.”

Signal and information technology improvement projects in Harrison and Hancock Counties

Following damage sustained by Hurricane Zeta, a project is ongoing in Harrison and Hancock Counties to repair or replace traffic signals and information technology equipment at 42 intersections along U.S. 90 from Bay St. Louis to Biloxi. Work on high priority signals in Gulfport and Biloxi is complete. A number of traffic signal heads have been replaced as well. New cable, conduit and ITS components are being installed.

This nearly $5 million project was awarded to Webster Electric of Collinsville. Work is expected to be complete in spring 2024.

A similar project will soon be underway in Harrison County to repair or replace traffic signals and information technology equipment. Work will take place at 51 signalized intersections along U.S. 49, I-10, I-110, State Route 605 and State Route 67.

This $3.4 million project was awarded to Powell Construction of Magee and is expected to begin spring 2023.

Overlay project on U.S. 90 in Hancock County is underway

An overlay project to pave 5 miles of U.S. 90 in Hancock County from Rifle Range Road to Lower Bay Road is underway. Mainline paving is complete, and crews are paving crossovers. This $6 million project was awarded to Huey P. Stockstill of Picayune and is expected to wrap up in summer 2023.

Highway work zones are meant to protect the traveling public and the highway workers on the side of the road. Highway work zones can be found throughout the state and often present unfamiliar traffic conditions. Examples of common work zones found on Mississippi highways and a complete list of tips can be found at GoMDOT.com/drivesmartms.

For more information on MDOT maintenance and construction projects, visit MDOTtraffic.com, download the free MDOT Traffic app or like and follow @MississippiDOT on Facebook and Twitter.

Rocks sweep Irish, Lady Tigers no-hit Pass Christian

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

On Tuesday, April 4, the high school baseball and softball division regular seasons are coming to a close this week with the post season right around the corner. A couple area teams are in the hunt for a division title while more still are hoping for a playoff berth.

Baseball

The Saint Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws (12-10, 7-1) swept the St. Patrick Irish last week and set up a showdown with the West Marion Trojans for the Division 8-3A title. On Tuesday, the Rocks beat St.

Patrick 12-2 behind a complete game performance from Hill Gainey who allowed 4 hits, an earned run, and 4 strikeouts. Seth Farni had a single and a 2-run home run. Wiley Mossy hit a single and double while Chesley Rhodes had a 3-run home run. Hugh LeMasters had a double with 3 RBI while Kyle Stegall and Tate Murphy each had a double with an RBI.

On Wednesday, the Rocks beat St. Patrick 11-8. Farni picked up the win pitching four innings allowing three hits and fanning six batters while Murphy threw three innings with three hits and three strikeouts. On offense, Jeremy Mares was 3-for-4 with a double while LeMasters and Gainey each had a double. Stegall had a triple and Farni, Mossy, Rhodes, and Heith Shinn all had a single.

Bay High split a series with the Division 8-4A leading Pass Christian Pirates. The Tigers picked up a 5-2 win on Tuesday behind a complete game performance from Xander Ladner when he fanned five batters and allowed just 2 runs on 6 hits. The Tigers dropped the second game 7-0.

The Hancock Hawks missed out on three opportunities against the Biloxi Indians last week dropping all three games 6-3, 7-4, and 7-2.

On Thursday, the Indians jumped out to a 2-1 lead on the Hawks and didn’t look back. The Hawks scored their second run when Dylan Peterson reached on a single to rightfield and was sent home on Max Garrett’s single to leftfield. In the sixth inning, Sean Ostheimer doubled to rightfield and scored when Jaxson Knight singled to leftfield to make the score 6-3.

In the bottom of the seventh inning, Garrett tripled to rightfield and scored on a past ball to make the score 7-4. With two outs, the Hawks juiced the bases for the second consecutive inning but could not get any more runners across the plate.

Hancock head coach Anthony DeWitt stated, “We left too many on base. Two consecutive innings, we had the bases loaded and could not push anybody across. We have to get better at sending runners home when they are in scoring position.”

In the game, Ostheimer was 3-for-4 and two doubles at the plate and Garrett was 2-for-4 with a triple.

Softball

The Bay High Lady

Tigers picked up a crucial 12-0 no-hitter against Pass Christian. Gracey Adkins tossed the no-no for Bay High. The Lady Tigers plated 10 runs in the fourth inning to key the victory. Aurora Harper, Madison Weems, and Carlie Lumpkin all had multiple hits in the game while the Lady Tigers also stole seven bases in the game.

The Hancock Lady Hawks beat Gulfport 4-3 last week and fell to Harrison Central 6-0 but game details were not available.

OLA also dropped a game with St. Patrick 13-1.

SEA COAST ECHO

Racing mini dirt bikes for 24 hours on a muddy figure-eight track that has its layout changed every four hours may sound punishing or extreme to some, but to students involved with Missouri University of Science and Technology’s Makerspace group, it just sounded fun.

Missouri S&T’s team recently earned sixth place out of 40 teams and won a team spirit award at the 24 Hours of Les Minis off-road mini dirt bike race. The challenge, which was sponsored by the Gambler 500 Florida organization, was held last month in Jacksonville, Florida.

Missouri S&T’s Makerspace organization provides space for students to use 3D printers, machining equipment, electronics equipment and a variety of tools. They also have welding equipment and offer free training for those interested.

In the Makerspace lab, the team prepared the bikes to ensure they had larger knobby tires, working motors and other mechanical features, and fresh paint

In total, the S&T team had six drivers taking shifts on the track, plus five members working in the pit crew and counting laps for the entirety of the 24-hour race.

Members of the team include:

- * Avery Lyons, a senior in engineering management from Bay St. Louis, Mississippi
 - * Andrew Banta, a junior in computer engineering from Jefferson City, Missouri
 - * Eric Bonney, a senior in mechanical engineering from Philadelphia, Missouri
 - * Dustin Burt, a senior in mining engineering from Marthasville, Missouri
 - * Brendan Crotty, a junior in mechanical engineering from Muskogee, Oklahoma
 - * Tucker Cudmore, a sophomore in mechanical engineering from Fort Calhoun, Nebraska
 - * Seth Huffman, a sophomore in mechanical engineering from Warsaw, Missouri
 - * Nick Johnson, a junior in mechanical engineering from Glen Ellyn, Illinois
 - * Trace LaBoube, a freshman in architectural engineering from Chesterfield, Missouri
 - * Jacob Sneed, a sophomore in mechanical engineering from Kansas City, Missouri
 - * Abby Womack, a sophomore in mechanical engineering from Jerseyville, Illinois

To be SAFE, be AWARE EVERYWHERE.

Electrical safety starts with being aware of electrical hazards. Think safety first and use these tips to stay safe at home, on the job and on the go.

Electricity from power lines can “jump” to nearby objects...including you. That’s why you should always stay at least 10 feet away from overhead lines.

Attention DIYers: There are live wires behind those walls. Use an electrical cable detector to locate them before your drill bit does.

Before you dig that flowerbed, remember there may be underground lines where you’re about to dig. Call 811 to locate them and your project will turn out just rosey.

Diamondhead Lions Club Celebrates 30th Anniversary

SEA COAST ECHO

The Diamondhead Lions Club celebrated our 30th anniversary on March 15 at Café Brunet with a cocktail hour and dinner buffet. Special attendees were two of the founding members of the club, Jim Beckham and Lola Mullinix. Both received special plaques with images of the new 30-year membership pin honoring their contributions to the club over 30 years. Also honored at the ceremony was Past President Carl Necaie for his many years of dedication to the club and his abilities of major event planning and leadership. And a special certificate and crystal paper-weight with the notation “You Make the Difference” were awarded to Sherry Necaie for her dedication and hard work for many years as club secretary and treasurer. All Lions have a common spirit- “We Serve”. Since our beginning in 1917, we have been united in a single cause: helping those less fortunate. We support the causes of Lions Clubs International which are supported by the dues paid by all Lions, contributions by other residents of our local area, and grant support from LCIF. In addition, the Diamondhead Lions Club supports many local charities and organizations that need the help that we can provide, as well as individuals that need help with eye or hearing care or other needs. Find out more about the Lions Club of Diamondhead. Be our guest at one of our regular club meetings in the near future.

Our next meeting is Friday, April 21 for Lunch, at 11:30 AM in the Diamondhead Country Club. Future meetings are on the Third Friday of each month. Let us know when you can come – we will save a seat for you - contact Lion Sherry Necaie at 228-256-3226 (senecaie@yahoo.com).
